

Microsoft Professional Program – Data Science

The Microsoft Professional Program in Data Science consists of a series of online courses followed by a capstone project. You can complete the courses in any order, but we recommend you follow the learning path described in the Microsoft Professional Program site at <https://aka.ms/lexdsc>.

The courses in this program are run four times each year, starting on July 1st. During each run, Microsoft courses will be available for three months; and the final project will be available for the first month of the following quarter.

Registration for each run is open until one week before the course ends, and shortly after closing (typically within a day) registration will open for the next run of the course. After this time, you will no longer be able to join the class in the current quarter, but you will be able to register for the next run of the course.

Note that the schedule above applies only to courses published by Microsoft. Third-party courses recognized by the program run on a schedule determined by their respective publishers.
